

AWAS delivers Airbus A330-200 to Hawaiian Airlines

29 May 2010

Dublin based lessor, AWAS, delivered an Airbus A330-200 to Hawaiian Airlines at the Airbus facility in Toulouse on Thursday 27th May. The event was attended by representatives from AWAS, Hawaiian Airlines and Airbus.

The aircraft is will form part of Hawaiian's fleet of the future. This expansion program is a major undertaking by Hawaiian, which plans to introduce 27 new Airbus aircraft into its fleet by the end of the decade.

"Hawaiian's focus is firmly on service quality and reliability, their record speaks for itself. The expansion and renewal of their fleet with new Airbus aircraft simply underlines this focus." said Franklin Pray, President & CEO of AWAS "We are delighted to support one of our biggest customers in their ambition to maintain their position as the highest-ranked carrier for service quality and performance in the US."

Hawaiian Airlines President and CEO, Mark Dunkerley said, "Hawaiian's future success depends on strong relationships like the one we've long enjoyed with AWAS. We are once again delighted to partner with AWAS, one of the world's leading companies in aviation, in financing our expansion with the delivery of this new A330 and a second later this year."

"It is a pleasure to watch the number of A330s in the Hawaiian fleet grow, as will the airline's already outstanding service to its customers," said John Leahy, Airbus Chief Operating Officer – Customers. "The transition to an Airbus fleet will certainly benefit the airline's bottom line and enhance its top-notch reputation in our industry."
